

WEEKLY CHAMPION, SATURDAY, OCT. 27, 1883.

Subscribe for the CHAMPION.

Bob Frazier has been in from his ranch this week.

Send to Mrs. Medler's, Albuquerque, for your millinery goods.

Those fine fall style hats at Allan H. Grant's are all the go just now.

Mrs. Brady's boarding house is crowded with well satisfied boarders.

Major Nicholson Nolan, of the 3d cavalry, died at Holbrook on the 25th inst.

Dr. Albert Crook has received, this week, a large invoice of O. K. Cutter whisky.

The distance from San Francisco to St. Louis, via the A. & P. route, is 2,440 miles.

WANTED—Twenty more boarders at Johnny Miller's well established lunch counter.

Steven & Co. do not deal in patent medicines at cost, but their prices in groceries defy competition.

Mine owners should remember that the ore is only sixty-three days in which to do assessment work for the year 1883.

Miss Belle Van Baskirk, preceptress of the school at Hackberry, is paying Peach Springs a visit, the guest of Mrs. A. E. Fay.

Page Palmer, proprietor of the European Hotel, at Raton, N. M., shot and killed a painter in his employ, at that place, on the 25th inst.

Our townsman, Jack Commack, who has been spending several days at Williams, returned home Friday morning. Jack thinks the Springs is "just old peaches" yet.

Forty or fifty tons of bullion are stacked up at the Howell Smelter on account of a scarcity of teams to haul it to Ash Fork. Parties having teams can find employment for them by applying at the smelter.

Will Fletcher, formerly with Mulligan, at the Metropolitan hotel, Albuquerque, passed through Peach Springs on Thursday night last, on his way to the Needles, to accept a situation as hotel clerk at the latter place.

When last heard from, Adjutant General M. H. Sherman was in Washington. Rumor has it that he is making a strong fight for the Prescott postmastership, with the entire California congressional delegation at his back.

A number of the leading papers of the Territory comment favorably on the suggestions recently thrown out in regard to the Texas Pacific land grant reverting to the Southern Pacific. They look upon it as being an advantage to the Territory.

The names of William Imus and Ernest Crocker are already mentioned as candidates for member of the lower house of the Thirteenth Legislative Assembly for Mohave county. Either nomination would be most acceptable to the people of the county.

The Albuquerque Journal of the 26th states in a display heading that the jury in the case of Casey-Scott failed to agree, and in the body of the article it is stated that the jury found a verdict of not guilty. You pay your money and take your choice.

Harley Fay, having secured the services of an experienced colored cook, will open his lunch counter to the public in a few days, as soon as his order for goods can arrive from Albuquerque. He will keep on hand poultry, fresh fish and Baltimore oysters, and will take regular boarders by the week.

It now looks very probable that Peach Springs can soon boast of having a school in active operation. It is proposed to raise some extra funds for furniture, etc., by giving an entertainment of some kind, and Mr. Stevens will rent the front room of his new house for a school room. A young lady from California, an experienced teacher, is to be employed.

The advertisement of M. Abernethy & Co., of Hackberry, appears in this number of the CHAMPION. Like every other firm doing business along the line of the railroad, they desire to advertise in the paper having double the circulation of any other in the locality mentioned. This is one of the most enterprising firms in Mohave county, which deserves and receives a large patronage.

Oscar Cowan has removed his tent saloon from Yucca to Franconia station.

Daniel Lewis, who killed Mark El lis near Dos Cabezas, Oct. 1st, has been held for murder, without bail. The evidence against him is strong.

Only twenty-eight new subscribers this week from points between Yucca and the Needles; and still the CHAMPION and Peach Springs retrogrades!

H. Bucksbaum, clerk of the Board of Supervisors of Mohave county, arrived in town last night, spent a very pleasant time among his friends here, and left for Prescott on the outgoing train.

The Mohave County Miner's "depopulated" Peach Springs presents this day a livelier appearance, and the most hopeful future, it has ever experienced since it was designated by its name.

The CHAMPION tenders its acknowledgments to the Secretary of the Territory for a volume of the laws of Arizona for the years 1879, '81 and '83. It was printed by the Arizona Miner, and is a credit to the craft.

J. W. Stephenson, Esq., the popular attorney of Mineral Park, paid us a hasty call on Tuesday evening last. He went to Ash Fork, where he will spend a few days in the "wild wood," killing deer and bear, and has chartered a car to convey his trophies to Albuquerque for disposal!

We are reliably informed that reservation Indians were recently seen on the San Pedro in possession of army ammunition; they say that they buy it from the white soldiers at San Carlos. There is no mistaking the character of the cartridges, as they bear the arsenal stamp—Silver Belt.

W. Lyle Van Horn, of Holbrook, was in town this week. He is now the traveling correspondent and solicitor for the Albuquerque Daily Journal, an excellent paper he very excellently represents. Mr. Van Horn is an able and finished descriptive writer, and a polished gentleman, and the Journal could find no better man to represent it.

Ernest Crocker, chief justice of Hackberry, dropped in on us Friday night last, and, after a pleasant time among his old friends here, left for home this morning. Mr. Crocker is head clerk for the firm of M. Abernethy & Co., a very popular young gentleman in business and social circles, and the only fault we have to find is the fact that his visits to Peach Springs are not more frequent.

Colonel Ilges, the military gentleman, whose memory was so treacherous that he never could remember how often he had drawn his pay, is out of the army at last, and so is Major Hubbard, of the pay corps, whose difficulty was that he attempted to aid the temperance movement at the capital by drinking up all the whisky in town himself. Both these gentlemen held life commissions, the salary attached to which was equal to the interest on a capital of $100,000. Both, therefore, may be held to have thrown away that sum for a good deal less than a mess of pottage. And now good old Colonel Morrow follows in the same wake.

Prescott Races.

We are in receipt of the large poster announcing the fall races at the Prescott Driving Park, to be held November 15th 16th and 17th. There are to be a number of famous trotters at the meeting, and the races, as arranged, purses running as high as $250, cannot fail to be of interest to the admirers of horseflesh. We notice that our old friend, Jake Marks, is acting secretary of the association, and under his direction the races cannot fail to be a success. Col. J. P. Martin, U. S. A., one of Fort Whipple's old-timers, and other military gentlemen, are leading directors in the association, which is a guarantee that the meeting will be conducted fairly and satisfactorily to all.

Correction.

To the CHAMPION.
WILLIAMS, A. T., Oct. 22.—I wish to say that the statement made in the CHAMPION, in regard to Mr. John Robertson, is not correct. He was brought to Williams after he was shot, and remains here yet. Dr. Bishop had nothing to do with extracting the ball, as he was in Albuquerque at the time of the accident. Drs. Dickey and Brannen extracted the ball.

Yours truly,

H. T. COWLEY.

KINGMAN.

Mines, Business and Gossip.

Mr. O. A. Shaw, our popular railroad agent, has gone on a visit among old friends in Kansas. J. B. Jones takes Mr. Shaw's place during his absence.

Prospectors are coming in daily, making their way to the Hualapai range, also the Music range, from which localities good reports and some fine specimens of ore are arriving daily. Music Mountain seems to be getting the "bulge" on the boys just at present, and the camp fires by night along the range show for a great distance.

The Arizona Sampling Works are testing some very fine specimens of ore from Hualapai and Music mountains, as well as numerous other points in the county, which goes to show that the mineral in the sections mentioned is of a valuable quality, and profitable to the owners.

Pretty near a serious accident was on the tapers below Yucca station, on the 21st inst. Four section men, out for a spree, and in for it in good shape, came up to Yucca on a hand-car to celebrate. They juiced up in fine style, and started on their return trip toward the river. The regular passenger train from the west came along when the boys had got well under way, so drunk they had no control over their car, and, fortunately, the engineer of the passenger train, as he rounded a curve, saw them in time, and succeeded in stopping the train when only within four feet of the hand-car. The conductor and his crew jumped off, threw the men and car down the embankment and passed on.

Mrs. E. H. Smith's restaurant, at this place, is one of the redeeming features of the town. It is a place where can be obtained the very best the market affords; the tables are clean and neat, and the lady proprietress makes it cheerful and inviting for all. Master Allie Smith, son of E. H. Smith, who has been lying dangerously ill with typhoid fever for some weeks past, is now improving, and will soon be fully restored to health.

Little Nellie Taggart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Taggart, is lying dangerously ill with typhoid fever. Her condition is said to be very critical. B. C.

YUCCA.

The Mail and Passenger Point for Signal.

This point is the mail and passenger station for Signal, and since the new arrangement went into effect, the stir and bustle has largely increased, and will continue to do so, as Signal, as a mining camp, is soon to have a boom. "Happy Jack," our old Tombstone friend, has just put on a new buckboard, to run to Signal, which will carry six passengers, and leaves here Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, returning from Signal on the alternate days. He is crowded with passengers every trip.

H. W. Coleman, formerly of Kingman, has a saloon, lodging and boarding house, and accommodates the traveling public with that social, courteous bearing which wins for him many friends. His accommodations are ample to meet the wants of the traveling public, and he enjoys a liberal patronage.

William Wilson, section boss, who has charge of the section house, conducts a large boarding house, and feeds a large number of men.

W. H. Wallace, the telegraph operator and express agent, is one of the most popular young men along the line of the road. His thorough business qualities amply fit him for the responsible position he occupies.

Mr. Nichols is here with his family, and is engaged in erecting a pump house for the railroad company. A. H.

NEEDLES.

The Merchants and Business Generally.

The Needles is a place possessing the most modern improvements, and wears a business-like air, which makes the passenger, as he alights from the train, feel that there is life and business in the town.

Hodges & Little, proprietors of the Junction Hotel, are just the men to serve the public in this particular. The hotel is large, well ventilated, neat and clean. The tables are supplied with everything the market affords, including a very liberal supply of California fruits, and the guests are loud in their praise of the treatment they receive at the Junction

Hotel. These gentlemen control the eating houses on the railroad to the junction, and are giving the very best satisfaction.

Paul Breon has sunk a well at this point, a distance of fifty-two feet, and has obtained a liberal supply of water. Mr. Breon is one of the most extensive merchants in the town, dealing largely in general merchandise.

Monaghan & Murphy are also extensive merchants here, being wholesale and retail dealers. They are business men, well liked, and supply their share of the public wants with great satisfaction.

Mrs. Kate Collins is running a first-class restaurant, and enjoys a liberal trade. Collins and the show business dissolved partnership, and, we are pleased to know, they are meeting with great success in their new venture.

The river abounds with beaver, duck, fish, etc., and now is an inviting time for sportsmen.

Harry Hodges, civil engineer, is surveying a new route for the A. & P. track, at the lower end of the Fifth Division, on the mesa, which, when the track is changed, will do away with the frequent washouts caused by the recent heavy rains.
